When it comes to hard decisions, picking furniture is right up there. Thought, planning, shopping and finally settling on just the right piece or pieces — the fun never ends. Then, seeing it in place in the room and wondering if it is exactly right.

This journal is a place to review and analyze all those choices. Lightly lined pages on the left side are ready for you to write your thoughts. On the right side, the pages are blank for you to sketch, write some more or paste in clippings or photographs.

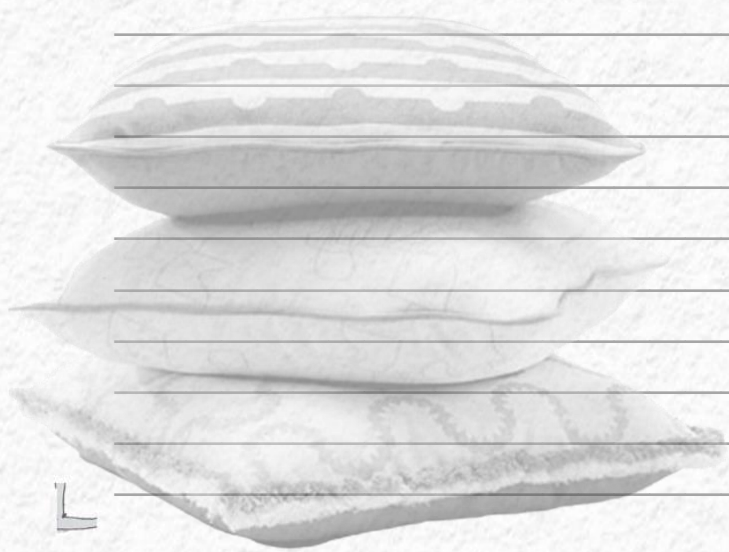

An idea — perhaps include a picture or sketch of a chair you bought with a family member sitting happily on it.

Prompts are given to help you focus on the range of items any house needs to make it a home and give you a stroll down memory lane.
